EXPERIENCE & EXPERTISE

QUALITY WORK FOR ALL PROJECTS GREAT AND SMALL

With over 30-years experience in the cabinet-making business, it would be hard to find a company established than LT. Nickson & Burke. Whether your needs are commercial or domestic, they have the experience and dedication to ensure whatever project you're undertaking, it can be fulfilled to your needs.

Mark Nickson and Chris Burke provide architectural, domestic and commercial joinery. Although the majority of their clientele are architects and builders, the company does deal direct with the public.

The commercial side of the business includes office fit outs, which includes designing and producing furniture such as workstations, partitioning and executive furniture.

On the other hand, their domestic work includes kitchens, bathrooms and wardrobes. The business concentrates on the quality end of the market.

In conjunction with the client, BCG Constructions Pty Ltd., the team constructed a design concept to streamline all aspects. The kitchen was to look like a piece of furniture, while the area still includes ample storage space, including a disguised walk-in pantry and powder room. This modern look complemented the entire house. For example, the slats above the television cabinet and at the top of the kitchen hid the air-conditioner and other workings of the room. The same look extended through the whole house
